Distributed Proofreaders (https://www.pgdp.net) is approaching the posting of its 44,000th project to Project Gutenberg! Since October 2000, this Project Gutenberg-affiliated site has converted regular Public Domain paper-based books into e-books and distributed them to the world via Project Gutenberg.

We do it all by teamwork. Once the images of the pages of a book have been scanned into a computer, those scans are converted to text by character recognition programs. Then our thousands of volunteers around the world proofread and correct the computer text page by page using a specially created web-based interface. By dividing the workload into individual pages, many volunteers can work on a book at the same time, which significantly speeds up the creation process.

We have many different types of volunteers. Some scan books and prepare them for proofreading, some proofread page by page, some format the pages (marking text that is italicized or bolded, etc.), some prepare the final e-book and some simply read the book to make sure that we haven't missed anything.

Proofreading, Formatting, and Preparing the Book for Project Gutenberg

During proofreading, volunteers are presented with a scanned page image and the corresponding converted text on a single web page. This allows the text to be compared easily to the image, proofread, and sent back to the site. The book then similarly progresses through a second and third proofreading round and two formatting rounds using the same web interface.

Once all the pages have completed these steps, a post-processor carefully assembles them into an e-book and submits it to Project Gutenberg.
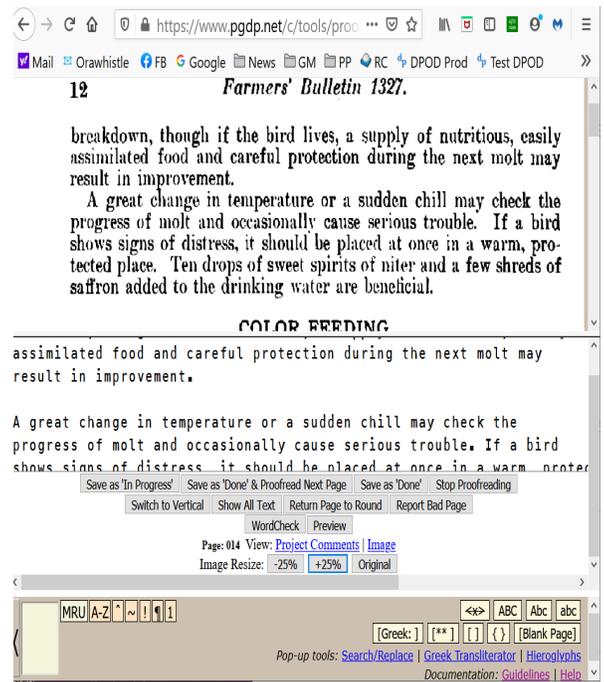

To help new members who would like to proofread, we have proofreading quizzes and tutorials. They are a great walk through the basic Guidelines for beginners.

"Smooth Reading" -- Simply Reading the Book before it goes live

However, even if you don't want to proofread, you can help by reading ("Smooth Reading") the books we prepare before we send them to Project Gutenberg. The goal of Smooth Reading is to read the text attentively, for pleasure, with just a little more attention than usual, and report any readability problem that disrupts the sense or the flow of the book.

New Volunteers

New volunteers are always welcome! The e-books we create become an important and free resource of literature and information that is shared by people around the world. Come join us in making that happen!

https://www.pgdp.net

Project Gutenberg (www.gutenberg.org) is the first and one of the largest collections of free electronic books, or e-books. PG offers over 60,000 free e-books. Choose different formats, including epub and Kindle. Download them or read them online. Share with virtually no limitations.

Project Gutenberg carries high quality e-books, which were previously published by bona fide publishers. They were digitized and diligently proofread with the help of thousands of volunteers. Distributed Proofreaders provides most of the new e-books. No fee or registration is required for any e-book that Project Gutenberg offers.

The Project Gutenberg philosophy is to make information, books and other materials available to the general public in forms a vast majority of computers, programs and people can easily read, use, quote, and search.

Whatever your area of interest, Project Gutenberg probably has some e-books on the topic! From classics to romances, knitting patterns to woodworking handbooks, and poetry to fairy tales, there's something to interest every reader. And it's all free of charge and works with e-readers, computers, or smart phones.

An easy way to sample Project Gutenberg e-books is to browse the most popular books on the site. Visit www.gutenberg.org/ebooks/search/?sort_order=downloads. There you'll find the most frequently downloaded books. You can also scan the "bookshelf" pages, where volunteers have organized books by type: www.gutenberg.org/ebooks/bookshelf/. But don't stop there! You can search the catalog for e-books of special interest to you by entering terms related to what you're looking for in the catalog search box. Here are a few ideas to get you started:

If you have a specific author, title or subject in mind, enter all or part of the name in the search box:

Stephen Leacock
Anne of Green Gables
Einstein Relativity
Napoleonic Wars

Once you've found your e-books, you can read them right away on your screen or load them onto your e-reader or computer. Loading books onto your e-readers is easy, but if you have any difficulty please see the guidance at www.gutenberg.org/help/mobile.html.

Here are some of Project Gutenberg's great e-books:

Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen	Twelve Years a Slave by Solomon Northup
Adventures of Huckleberry Finn by Mark Twain	Little Brother by Cory Doctorow
The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes by Arthur Conan Doyle	The Wonderful Wizard of Oz by L. Frank Baum
Alice's Adventures in Wonderland by Lewis Carroll	The Story of My Life by Helen Keller
Les Misérables by Victor Hugo	The Time Machine by H.G. Wells
Grimms' Fairy Tales by Jacob and Wilhelm Grimm	The King in Yellow by Robert W. Chambers.
Ulysses by James Joyce	Oliver Twist by Charles Dickens
The Prince by Niccolo Machiavelli	Anna Karenina by Leo Tolstoy
The Adventures of Tom Sawyer by Mark Twain	The Thirty-Nine Steps by John Buchan
A Tale of Two Cites by Charles Dickens	The Trial by Franz Kafka
Leaves of Grass by Walt Whitman	2 B R 0 2 B by Kurt Vonnegut
Moby Dick; Or, the Whale by Herman Melville	Pygmalion by Bernard Shaw
Dracula by Bram Stoker	The Turn of the Screw by Henry James
The Jungle Book by Rudyard Kipling	A Room with a View by E.M. Forster
Anne of Green Gables by L.M. Montgomery	This Side of Paradise by F. Scott Fitzgerald
Sons and Lovers by D.H. Lawrence	Practical Instruction for Detectives by E.W. Manning
Jane Eyre: An Autobiography by Charlotte Bronte	My Man Jeeves by P.G. Wodehouse
Slave Narratives by the Work Projects Administration	Frankenstein by Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley

https://www.gutenberg.org